Dear Miss Miller

I neglected to write to you to thank you both for your kindness at xmas Mr Bennett for floral gift it was beautiful and I appreciated it so much and you for the kindness you shown in regards to getting those books. Autographed. Unfortunately Johnnie's wife's mother died before the book arrived But the other two were very much appreciated. The Prime Minister's autograph signature was a very fine gift even were the book just fiction I thank you again in behalf of my friends.

Now I do not intend to take up too much of your time But I wish you to convey my compliments to Mr Bennett tell him we enjoyed his talks over the Radio. which has caused many comments. Tell him "I said" "He sure knows his book" Now I really trust his good judgement and he may be martyred but he will use the key which opens Canada to

A New Nation. My dream or vision is still before me I was not asleep when I saw it and I know from out of the past. He will succeed No earthly power will or can stay his project. When he is fighting an upright battle.

So now wishing you all the good luck 1935.
Can give you and at the same time convey my kind regards to my old friend R. C., tell him I laughed to myself when I saw just how much his signature meant to these loyal subjects of his. The man who has been out of work for over two years, struggling to keep a family of boys and girls ranging from 26 to 8 years old wrote to me this. You have no idea how much pleasure I and my family derived from the book you sent to me. The book itself I thank you for.

But you will never be able to realise how much we appreciated the Autograph of our dear Prime Minister upon it with admiration and reverence of the signature of a great man. So with love I enclose sincerely as ever yours Wm. J. Williams
